

List of authors

Bernhard E. Bürdek is professor for design-methodology, product planning and interface-design at the Hochschule für Gestaltung Offenbach. He also works as a freelance designer and journalist.

Jochen Gros has been professor for design theory at the Hochschule für Gestaltung Offenbach since 1974. He studied mechanical engineering, psychology and design and did freelance work for projects of the Siemens “Trendforschung” (trend research). He was a member of the Des-In group, which developed alternative design and manufacturing concepts in the 70s. He currently focuses his work on “product language“, ecology and new technologies.

In 1994 he was co-founder of the C...Lab at the Hochschule für Gestaltung Offenbach, which he has since been directing.

List of authors

Martin Krauter graduated as designer from the Hochschule für Gestaltung Offenbach in 1996. He had already started publishing articles during his studies. Since 1997 he has been working for Erco.

Friedrich Sulzer is a master cabinet-maker and industrial designer with a diploma from the Ecole Nationale Supérieure de Création / Les Ateliers in Paris. From 1993 until 1994 he was in charge of the research project “New Technologies in Wood Processing” at the Institute for Interior Design and Furniture Design at the Kunstakademie Stuttgart. In 1994 he was appointed visiting professor at the Hochschule für Gestaltung Offenbach, where he has been lecturer for C-Technology since 1996. In 1994 he was co-founder of the C...Lab, for which he has been working since. In addition he works as freelance designer and journalist.

